DEP says tire dump cleanup to begin in November

By ALISON ALOISIO

The long-awaited cleanup of the Greenwood (and Albany) tire dumps is expected to get rolling in November. A year - and almost 500 truckloads of tire chips - later, the two sites should be completely tire-free, according to Randy McMullin of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection.

McMullin, who said DEP will be taking bids for the cleanup work shortly, expects the project will take the form of an on-site chipping operation. The chips will likely end up as low-density fill in a Department of Transportation road construction project, he said.

It costs roughly a dollar a tire for the cleanup. There are an estimated 1.2 to 1.4 million tires between the two sites. The roughly 200,000 in Albany will likely be trucked to Greenwood for chipping.

The chipped tires will weigh in at between 12,000 and 14,000 tons, said McMullin. An 18-wheeler trailer can carry away about 30 tons at a time. He expects about three or four trucks to make one or two trips a day over the next year or so.

"It takes a long time to chew up that many tires," he said.

Greenwood town manager Carol Whitman will be glad to see them leave town. "It will be nice to have (the dump) gone," she said.

In the early 1990s, town officials tried unsuccessfully to get DEP to take responsibility for removing the tires. The facility, once operated by Peter Gordon, had originally been licensed to accept, and then dispose of, used tires. But instead, they just kept piling up, creating a fire concern for local municipal and fire department officials. DEP has an order in place preventing Gordon from bringing any more tires onto the sites.

Floyd's flooding called a fluke

But incident raises questions about notification procedures

By ALISON ALOISIO

"It's not something I've ever seen -- and I thought I'd seen everything."

That was the assessment of the Sept. 17 flood by Don Mercier, the power systems manager for Pulp and Paper of America. The company operates the Shelburne, N.H. dam on the Androscoggin River, upstream from Bethel.

On that Friday, Tropical Storm Floyd caused the river to rise so rapidly it trapped several campers at the Bethel Outdoor Adventures campground, located next to the river near Route 2. Route 26 was also closed for a time.

Mercier has worked for the succession of companies controlling the dam for 20 years. PPA, he said, has a set procedure for notifying Oxford County when the Androscoggin and its tributaries above the dam reach certain levels.

That procedure has generally worked well in the past, according to Bethel Police Chief Darren

Tripp. But this time, not only the campers, but also Bethel town officials were caught by surprise around 7 a.m., when the river rose quickly.

The usual notification procedure, said Mercier, has Shelburne calling Oxford dispatch, which in turn notifies Bethel authorities. But the river never reached a level to trigger those notifications on the day Floyd came through.

"What caught people by surprise was that where it (the water) came from was a little different," said Mercier.

Rainfall north of Berlin was not nearly as heavy as it was to the south, he said. As a result, tributaries south of the Shelburne dam apparently contributed more than their usual share to the river's volume, creating the flooding in Bethel.

"The conditions in Berlin weren't that drastic," said Mercier. "It

Hanover residents have questions of their own

By ALISON ALOISIO

Worries about the safety of the Howard Pond dam in Hanover - and the lack of a clear warning procedure for residents downstream - are prompting the town's selectmen to ask for a dam inspection.

Spencer Couture told selectmen Tuesday that as the pond water rose during Tropical Storm Floyd, he was concerned for the safety of his mother and others who live below the 60-year-old dam. The structure is made of concrete, sand and rock cribbing. It is owned by the Howard Pond Campers Association.

Selectman Brenda Gross said that contrary to some accounts, the water never rose over the top of the dam. "I was there at the peak," she said. "We would have warned them (residents) if we felt we had to."

A row of sandbags was placed along the top of the dam during the storm.

As the water rose, said Gross, it was also draining across a low point in the road next to the pond, relieving some of the pressure on the dam. She said she had called D.A. Wilson and Co. to stand by, in the event a ditch across the road might be needed to drain the water faster.

That never happened, she said. "It was going really good. I felt it was doing what it was supposed to be doing," she said.

She also said she was afraid that digging a ditch could have unpredictable consequences. A sudden large increase in flow through a ditch might have eroded away a large portion of the road. "It's a town road, and we would have to fix it," she said.

Village merchants say rumors of Main Street's demise are greatly exaggerated

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Despite some real problems there are still plenty of good - and encouraging - things happening on Main Street, said village merchants, who met recently to discuss revitalization and economic development here.

While problems, including vandalism, were acknowledged, the greater part of an hour was spent discussing the many good things that are happening on Main Street.

"There are some really wonderful and exciting things happening," said Bob Laux of Wild River Realty. "It's easy to get caught up in temporary vacancies and lose focus on the overall progress that is happening."

Many fresh signs of life seen

For example, they said:

--The Post Office revitalization is still a cause for celebration. Bethel is one of a very few towns that has managed to keep a post office on Main Street after USPS decides the office needed more space.

--The Bethel Foodliner received a liquor license and now stocks a variety of spirits. Add to that the transition to Hannaford brand products and lower prices, and the grocery store is now poised to continue drawing Bethel residents and visitors well into the future.

--The merchants agreed the appearance of Main Street is a vital part of its viability, and there are many projects currently underway that are improving the look of things.

--Bob Chadbourne's improvements to the former DeMarco building are almost complete.

--David Murphy and Bruce Powell have purchased the Lions' building and are currently renovating it for retail space.

--Next door, Tim and Gail Brooks are renovating the first floor of their house for office space.

--Finish Line Pizza is receiving a facelift, as well.

--Visual improvements also come in simpler forms, frequently from a paint job. The Methodist Church, SAD44 Bus Garage, and Wild River Realty are all being repainted and spruced up.

--The Bethel Garden Club has maintained beautiful flowers all summer in the islands at the corner of Main Street and Broad/Church streets, and Main Street and the Parkway.

--People have also been able to enjoy the Kinder Garden at the Bethel voters approve funds for beach study, airport lot

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel will sink up to $20,000 into determining if the latest plan for a town swimming hole holds water.

The forty voters who turned out for a special Town Meeting on the matter Monday approved the money easily, with only six people voting in opposition.

The money was requested by the town's Beach Committee.

Don Bennett, committee chairman, told the voters the money would be used to pay for consultants and to cover any other expenses incurred in the attempt to learn if the plan is feasible.

The parcel under scrutiny consists of four (plus or minus) acres that have been offered to the town by Ernest and Alberta Angevine and their family.

The committee - using volunteer time and equipment - has already conducted its own preliminary study, Bennett said, and the initial results are encouraging.

But many questions remain, he said, "and we want to do this the right way."

He noted there is plenty of information available regarding man-made fire ponds and fish ponds, but relatively little about manmade swimming ponds.

"We need to come up with as much information as we can from people who have dug ponds," he said.

Voters Monday had some questions of their own - regarding such matters as the size of the proposed pond, whether the contractor who dug it would guarantee it, what liability if any the town would have, and what thought had been

POSSIBLE MODEL FOR A BETHEL BEACH--Members of the Bethel Beach Committee visited Ingelsides in Scarborough Tuesday to see a five-acre dug swimming pond, similar to the proposed pond on the Angevine property. The Scarborough pond was dug in soil conditions similar to those here. It has been open to swimmers for more than 10 years. Owner Bob Scammon told committee members: "Keep trout in the pond, to control the leeches."

Study: E-W road benefits meager

AUGUSTA—Any financial benefits that might follow from the construction of an East-West highway across the state are likely to be small, according to a report released Tuesday by the Maine Department of Transportation and the State Planning Office. And 60 percent of those benefits would benefit Canada rather than Maine, according to the report. Proponents of such a project have argued that it would improve the economic prospects of the eastern part of the state; but the report concluded "construction of any of the proposed east-west corridors will have the effect of modestly increasing the overall size of the Maine economy." The study is expected to bolster the case of highway opponents, who argue that it is unnecessary and a threat to both the environment and countless communities along its route. Of the four routes examined by the study, the one that did appear to have the greatest economic impact was a corridor from Calais in the east to Gilead on the New Hampshire border. The report concludes that an upgrade of the current roads along that route would reduce the border to border travel time by 18 minutes.

Selectmen consider building lease

HANOVER—Selectmen are considering a temporary lease agreement for a house on Route 2 that Mead Paper Co. plans to donate to the town for conversion to a Town Office. Voters agreed to accept the house and land at a Town Meeting this summer. Mead is waiting to give the town the deed to the house and land until it is determined if a small portion of the land is needed to complete an adjacent boat landing, according to selectmen. The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife is improving the landing. Selectman Bruce Powell said a lease agreement for a dollar a year might be arranged in the meantime to allow the town to proceed with its Town Office plans. A committee is expected to present a proposal and budget for the project at a Town Meeting in November.

Will View appealed

BETHEL—The Bethel Board of Appeals will hear an appeal from abutters regarding the Will View subdivision approval Oct. 7. In a letter to Planning Board chairman Frank Vogt, abutters wrote, "We have many unresolved issues regarding the entire application process and request the Appeals Board be receptive to all our issues and concerns." The subdivision is located off the Sunday River Road. The appeal meeting begins at 7 p.m. in the Town Office.

Chief: E. Andover needs station

ANDOVER—Andover should keep a fire station in the East Andover section of town in the event flooding cuts off access from the main station in the village, Fire Chief Ken Dixon said last week. A study committee recently recommended against building a new fire station in East Andover to replace an existing small station. But Dixon said flooding during tropical storm Floyd made some roads to East Andover impassable. Without a station, he said, the department would have to drive a truck to East Andover and leave it there if a flood threatened.

Foliage Flotilla Saturday

BETHEL—Canoe enthusiasts are invited to join the annual Fabulous Fall Foliage Flotilla trip on the Androscoggin River Saturday, Oct. 2. The trek is open to the public and will begin at 10 a.m. near the bridge in Gilead, finishing up about five hours later in Bethel. Participants must provide their own canoe, personal flotation devices, and lunch. Anyone wishing to participate is asked to register by calling 824-2410. The trek is organized by the Friends of the Androscoggin Committee of the Mahoosuc Land Trust.

Tag your child for safety

PARIS—"Lost child tags" will again be available at the Fryeburg Fair, according to Skip Herrick, Oxford County Sheriff. The tags enable fair security personnel to more easily locate parents in the event children get separated from them in the crowd. The tags will be available at any of the fair security office locations. The tags may be placed in the child's pocket.

Walk raises $3,000

WOODSTOCK—Approximately 30 people took part in Sunday's Walk-a-Thon that raised funds for the Whitman Memorial Library addition. Organizers estimated that when all pledges and donations are in, the event will raise about $3,000. Last year's walk brought in approximately $7,000.

Wash your car, win a lobster

BETHEL—A car wash is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 2 at the SAD44 bus garage to benefit the Freshman Awareness Committee at Telstar. The group sponsors workshops and speakers to help freshmen at the school make a smooth adjustment to high school. The car wash will take place from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The committee will also raffle off ten pounds of lobster. Tickets, at $1 each or six for $5, will be on sale at the car wash.

King 'to beat the hell' out of van

BRIDGTON—Horror writer Stephen King, who was seriously injured when he was struck July 19 by a minivan while walking along Route 5 in Lovell, confirmed he has the van that hit him in his possession. "Yes, we've got the van, and I'm going to take a sledgehammer and beat the hell out of it," King told The Bridgton News. King, 52, visited the weekly newspaper to meet Nancy Talbot, who stepped forward this month to say she witnessed the crash that left King with a broken hip, broken ribs and a collapsed lung. Talbot was interviewed by an investigator last week about the accident, and the information she provided will be presented to a grand jury, police said. The grand jury's session begins Sept. 30. The driver, Bryan Smith, 42, of Fryeburg, said in an earlier interview that King's lawyer and two other men paid $1,500 cash for the 1985 Dodge Caravan he was driving when he hit King. Smith said he was distracted by his Rottweiler when he hit King, who was walking on the shoulder in North Lovell.

AMC hut must be ADA accessible

FRANCONIA, N.H.—Construction on a new Appalachian Mountain Club hut came to a halt last week after the U.S. Forest Service realized the structure was not wheelchair-accessible. But after a redesign, building resumed Thursday on the Galehead hut in the White Mountain National Forest. The hut, considered the club's remotest, is at 3,800 feet elevation and 4.6 miles from the nearest access road. "It was our understanding that because it was a back-country hut, we didn't need to have wheelchair ramps and the like," said Walter Graft, deputy director of the AMC. "But new buildings on public land have to be compliant" with the Americans with Disabilities Act, he said. The Forest Service gave approval to the original hut plan when it renewed the AMC's permit to operate in the national forest. The shelter is intended to replace a 67-year-old log building on Garfield Ridge in the Franconia Range. But work came to a standstill last Thursday while the AMC redesigned the hut to make it completely accessible. The new features will add an estimated $30,000 to $50,000 to the $400,000 cost of the new building. The hut is so difficult to get to that the redesign may seem unnecessary at first glance, said Janet Zeller, a civil rights program manager with the Forest Service's eastern regional office. But there are no exceptions to the Americans with Disabilities Act for new construction on public lands. And disabled people will take advantage of the access sooner or later, she said.

Forest plan input sought

GORHAM, N.H.—A meeting aimed at organizing a local forest-planning group especially for citizens living in the North Country of New Hampshire and Western Maine is planned for Thursday, Sept. 30. The group's purpose is to provide input to the U.S. Forest Service regarding the revision of the White Mountain National Forest management plan. The meeting will take place at the Gorham Town Hall from 7 to 9 p.m. For more information call (603) 466-2713.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Pumpkin patrol rides the rails

At 2 p.m. on Sept. 21 a caller reported male subjects with a large number of pumpkins traveling along the railroad tracks in a small red car. Police located the subjects, who said they were picking up the pumpkins for their owner. Apparently the recent flood washed the pumpkins down the river. The owner was contacted and sent an employee to retrieve them.

Tuesday, Sept. 21

At 12:05 p.m. police arrested Christopher D. Berry, 18, of Bethel at Telstar High School on charges of robbery and assault.

At 3 p.m. a Telstar High School staff member advised that a student had reported she had been threatened by two other students. The two students, both juveniles, were arrested on charges of tampering with a witness, assault and criminal threatening. They were processed and released to their parents.

Wednesday, Sept. 22

At 11:30 p.m. police stopped a subject on Route 2 for a vehicle defect. A license check showed he had an active arrest warrant for failure to pay a fine. After arresting David E. Walker, 48, of Bethel, the officer found he showed signs of intoxication. On arrival at the Oxford County Jail, he was given a balloon kit test and summonsed for OUI. He was held in lieu of bail.

At 10:05 p.m. a subject came to the Police Department and described an incident in which he had just been involved. The subject, Chester Herrick, 34, of Bethel was summonsed for assault. The other subject in the incident then arrived and filed the complaint. Both subjects filled out statement forms.

Thursday, Sept. 23

At 5:30 p.m. a North Road resident reported losing his aluminum boat during the recent flood. He described it as a late 1960s model boat.

Friday, Sept. 24

At 5:15 p.m. police charged Jennifer L. Evans with speeding on Route 26 and operating after suspension.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

CAN'T GET THERE FROM HERE, and electrician Brian Strickland blames the bureaucracy of the U.S. Postal Service. Standing in the basement of the Naimey Block on Main Street, Strickland examines wires that should be used to control the heat levels in the building's four second-floor apartments. But the wires cannot be used for that purpose because the USPS has so far refused to grant permission for Strickland to make the necessary connection where a chase ends above the drop ceiling in the post office space. Three of the apartments are unoccupied, but since July a young couple, now with a three-week old infant, has been living in one apartment — with no way to get heat, Strickland said. Contacted last week about the matter, USPS Real Estate Specialist Terry Brooks said he had been told the chase provided access to the second floor, but Strickland, shown here Saturday, said that it no longer does. Unless the connection could be reopened above the first floor ceiling, he said, the chase was a dead end. Strickland, who formerly owned the building, said: "The chase is there, it's available, it's the Post Office bureaucracy that's stopping it." On Saturday Strickland was able to jury rig a temporary line outside the building, to provide a short-term solution to the problem. Brooks, in his conversation with The Citizen last week, was asked what action the USPS would take if it turned out the chase did not provide the necessary access to the second floor. "We would look at that," he replied.

Flood

Ken Whitman, director of emergency management for Oxford County, said his office had received notification around 2 a.m., but the word then was that the water levels were dropping, not rising.

Water passing through the dam peaked at about 11,600 cubic feet per second sometime before noon on that day, Mercier said.

PPA had opened the gates to allow water through when it reached a prescribed level behind the dam, he said. The company's Federal Energy Regulatory Commission license requires the pond behind the dam be maintained at a certain level.

About six inches of rain fell in Shelburne, said Mercier. Similar amounts were measured in the Bethel area.

"Something radically different" BOA campground owner Jeff Parsons said that around 10 p.m. Thursday night, his wife, Patti, drove to West Bethel to look at the river level, and found it was at a level similar to where it had been during the summer, he said. She also listened to weather reports around 5 a.m., and learned there was no flood warning in effect for this area.

But a little later, the campground caretaker called to say the river was coming up, and Parsons told him to move the six campers. But it was too late by then.

By contrast, in June of 1998, 16 campers had been successfully evacuated when the river rose due to heavy rains, Jeff Parsons said. "That time we easily got out 16. This time we couldn't get out six. Something was radically different," he said.

Parsons said he planned to look further into the issue of dam management at Shelburne, as well as communications with Oxford County regarding river levels.

He also said he would review and revise his evacuation plan. One possibility, he said, might be to automatically move campers if the river reached a certain level, even if there were no flood warnings.

Bethel looks at future plans Bethel officials are also reviewing the events in an effort to plan better for future floods. Town Manager Scott Cole said he is looking into notification procedures.

Planning Assistant Mary Rosberg said that when the Bethel Outdoor Adventures campground was approved by the Planning Board in 1996, the board stipulated that the Parsons submit a written evacuanever reached the trigger. Most of it came from the tributaries."

He said his company is not in the business of predicting overall flood conditions in the Androscoggin, because of liability issues. "We give information of the conditions occurring. We're not flood predictors. What people do with that information — they can interpret it," he said.

Mercier said that many people and businesses downstream would like to be notified directly of river levels, but his office doesn't have time to call everyone.

tion plan to the town. Rosberg does not have one, she said.

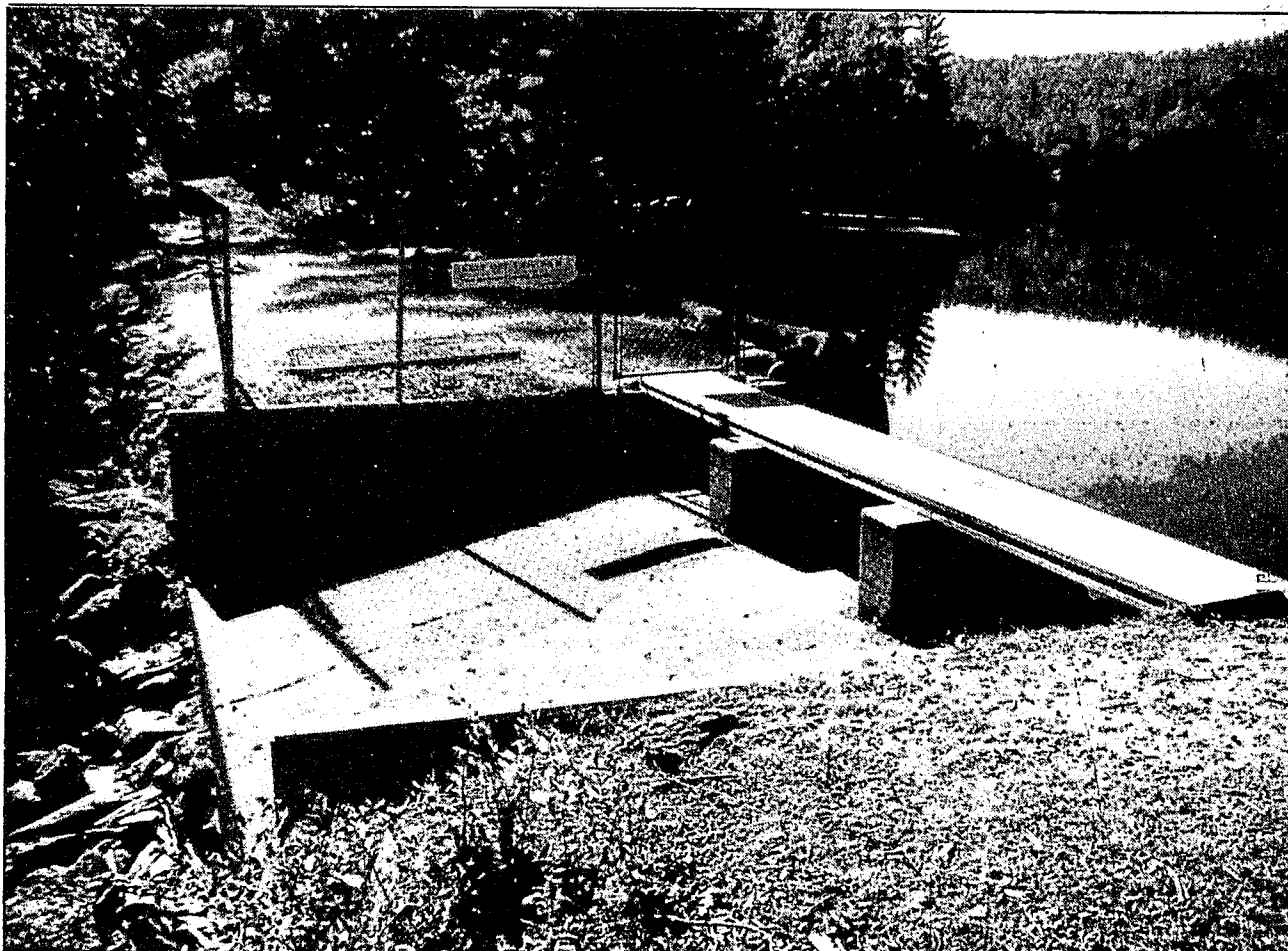

The minutes of the 1996 board meeting state simply that "during times of heavy rain and flood warnings, campers would be alerted and a watch posted."

Parsons said his recollection was that the board directed him to have someone staying on site to monitor the river.

WATERWORTHY?—Hanover selectmen plan to ask the Howard Pond campowners' association about having the dam inspected for safety.

Bob Brown suggested that for the future, the town consider constructing a dip in the road about a foot deep to provide better drainage.

Couture also said there should be a procedure for letting downstream residents know if water levels get as high as they did during Floyd.

"We need a method so that people can be notified, so they can make their own decisions. To find out later the decision was made for you is unnerving," he said. "If that dam breaches, people will die. Twenty feet of water from a 130-acre pond draining down through the valley is not going to follow the brook," he said.

Couture said the dam itself should also be inspected by the state. "If it can't hold, then maybe it (the gate) should be left open year round," he said.

Selectman Scott Gould suggested that in addition to the state, the Army Corps of Engineers might also be contacted for a recommendation.

The board decided to first contact the owners' association to express concern about the dam's safety and ask what the group intends to do. "We need to have some assurance the dam is in good shape," said selectman chair Bruce Powell.

The board will discuss the issue again at their Oct. 26 meeting.

The cleanup will be financed with funds from a recent bond issue approved by Maine voters.

"It never looked like it was really going to get settled," said Marie Bartlett, former Greenwood selectman. "but now it looks like it is."

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

A beautiful passenger train was in town on Monday. The 180 passengers, mostly from Wisconsin, got off in Bryant Pond and traveled to North Conway by bus and the train continued on to Bethel. Howard Cole, whose hobby is trains, was on hand to observe this fantastic vehicle.

John and Lynn Mason-Courtney hosted a party last Saturday for the purpose of showing their new rock wall built by Doug Bennett. It was Adelaide's birthday, Lynn's seeing eye dog, who was two years old.

Ken and Gwenyth Bohr spent a mini vacation at their condo in Old Orchard recently.

Open House will be held Saturday, Oct. 2, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., at Greenwood Historical Society in Locke Mills. There will be cider pressing and food and yard sales.

Sympathy and prayers are with the family of Katie Kennagh, who passed away Sunday, Sept. 26.

Kate Nickerson and Chad Dumais spent the weekend with her parents, George and Danna Nickerson.

Linda MacDormand, Hampton, N.H., was in town Sunday and Monday visiting her mother, Evelyn Nickerson, who celebrated her 84th birthday on Sept. 27.

John Kiernan of Brunswick and Dick Kiernan of Florida visited Evelyn Nickerson one day last week.

Henry and Betty Robertson returned after spending the week with daughters Vicki in Topsham and Merry Ann in Brunswick.

Howard and Ginny Cole and family, Curtis and Terry Cole and Nancy Farmer have returned from a hiking and sightseeing tour in Montana, where they stayed at Glacier National Park. They traveled through Canada.

The family of Garey and Dorothy York helped them celebrate their 56th wedding anniversary recently at Town and Country Inn in Shelburne.

Fall foliage season is slow this year and rather dull.

From drought to flood in less than 48 hours, we did just that. I received 6.4 inches in my gauge during the big rain. Now that should do for a while.

Sonny Cummings took me to Lewiston to my eye specialist, Dr. Marc Daniels, on Thursday. Dr. Daniels said I was doing very well and he wanted me to come back in six months, so I have an appointment for March 20.

Rebecca Ricker went up on the common to the Harvest Fest. She came back with some fudge and treated some of us here. She had four different kinds. She gave me a sample of each. All were delicious, but one with a strong maple taste and nuts certainly was the best.

Brian Cook, property manager, was at the Bethel House one day recently and then he had to go to Sunday River to a conference.

K.C. Denton was at the Bethel House a short time Friday on maintenance work. He did not stop long because of the high water.

Elaine Dresser was at my apartment one day recently and we played two games of cribbage. Each won a game. She is one game ahead now.

After the big rain I had a total of 10.5 inches for the month of September. A yearly total of 28.9 since May 1 so far and that is three tenths of an inch more than 1998. Maybe we won't have to start the winter without plenty of water; hope when it is cold we get all snow.

Other reports of rainfall received during the big rain were Ronnie Hanscom of Walkers Mills Road with 6.1 inches, Charlie Newell by Johnny's Bridge with five, Shirley Gilbert of West Bethel Flat Road with 6.9 and Warren Powers of Bear River Road in Newry said his gauge ran over but he had at least five inches. Vada Glover received 5.5 inches; she lives at Taggart Road in Rumford. I heard that one person received eight inches of rain during the big rain.

Pastor Rick, Rudy Royer, Bob Schuesler, Carl Brown, Conrad Vandenburg, Greg Frasier and Andy Bean have formed a group, and they had a special song on Sunday at church and it was great. Pastor Rick's message for the day was "Holy Intoxication." There was a very good attendance. With such a nice group when they all join in singing the lovely hymns and choruses, it is just wonderful.

Pastor Rick, Joshua Mowery, Andrea Bennett and Lacy Phillips went to the front of the church Sunday and led the group in some of the singing. That was great, too.

Liz Perry, manager, was at the Bethel House on Thursday. She plans to come up every Thursday at 1 p.m.

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Mowery and Drew Webster of the Bethel Alliance Church have returned to their homes after attending the district conference in Massachusetts for a few days. Drew Webster went as a delegate.

Florence Morgan visited her sister, Eva Lane, at the Bethel House recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole took Rebecca Ricker to see Mildred Newell at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Tuesday.

Vada Glover spent the day with me on Tuesday. We played cribbage and now in 396 games Vada is two ahead. We went to Ketter's, Ames and Shop 'n Save. We had dinner at Market Square Restaurant and it sure was good. We had Yankee pot roast.

Rudy Royer stopped by my apartment on Tuesday and left me some nice tomatoes and some of JoAnn's lovely biscuits and soup.

I received .4 inches of rain on Sept. 21 during the day and .5 at night, making the total for September now 11.4 and starting May 1 through Sept. 21 I've recorded 29.8 inches total.

Alder River Grange had a good turnout for its supper on Sept. 25.

Recent guests at the Bartlett Homestead were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White of Ohio, Mrs. Bernard Bartlett and daughter of Fresno, Calif., and Mrs. Barbara Hamilton and friend from Peoria, Ariz.

I am sorry there isn't more news. I attended degree work in Bryant Pond. Alder River Grange has a new member, Shawn McClain. We welcome him.

Alder River Grange will have two more suppers, a harvest supper on Oct. 23 at 5 p.m. and the turkey dinner on Nov. 7 at noon.

We're having beautiful weather now. I hope everyone gets out to enjoy it.

Frost is the enemy. With the vegetables in, I am partly the winner, but I still creep out nightly to cover the colorful annuals hoping to enjoy one more day with them. This morning, I walked to the garden to pull back the protective blanket and a salmon tuberous begonia popped its head out.

When I was a younger gardener, an older woman shared her secrets about plants, and especially begonias. Gete Flint Quinn lived on the Bog Road a few miles from me; a colorful character who spent most of her life entertaining and feeding "sports" who found their way north to Wilson's Mills to hunt and fish. Gete had just sold the Bosebuck Camps at the time I became close with her. It must have been in the early '70s.

She had a ready smile and warm eyes. When she spoke, though, I was a bit intimidated at first because she had a sureness about her which I was in awe of. Gete had reached the comfortable 50s and I was in the tender 20s, not sure a woman with such knowledge would even talk with a kid like myself. The thing I still admire about Gete is her ability to listen to and understand young people. She was never able to have a child of her own but appeared to love all children no matter what their age.

Gete took me under her green thumb when I was still a fledgling gardener and taught me the ways of bone meal, fish emulsion, and potash. She and her second husband, Ed Quinn, even helped finance my first venture into the greenhouse business by surprising me with materials for tables in my greenhouse. She truly loved gardening and hoped to spread her love through me into homes and yards around Bethel. She had the most delicious tuberous begonias one would ever hope to meet. Her fuchsias were extraordinary.

Gete and I have been collaborating on a story about her father, Perl Flint, and the "days of olde" when life was better, probably not easier. He was a rugged sort of man who knew who he was and folks were drawn to him like smelts to a fresh spring runoff. He was not terribly tall, but when he walked you knew he was going somewhere, like he had a purpose in life. He gave Gete her people skills and she has savored them and used them all her life to cook up a life aromatic with friends and relationships.

I am looking for people who knew Perl well so I can build the man in words and have him come alive on my pages of memories. Please write to me in care of the Bethel Citizen.

We were sorry to hear of the death of John Yates. John leaves a wife, Louise, mother, Lempi and her husband Cecil Health, two children and many other relatives and friends. Sympathy goes out to all.

Tommy Poland attended Grandparents Day at Crescent Park School in Bethel. Tommy has several grandchildren and great-grandchildren who attend the school. They are Brooke and Ken Grover (twins) and Bailey and Emma Bailey. She always enjoys going to see the children's school.

Brooke and Ken wait for the bus in the morning at their grandmother Tommy Poland's. While they were waiting Thursday a very large moose came in the yard.

My sister, Evelyn and husband, Jim Dunn, visited with us on Saturday. They also spent some time attending a wedding on Paris Hill and visited relatives. They spent Sunday night with Claribel Poland. Evelyn and Jim are from Campton, N.H. and haven't been down for quite a while.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the museum has some of the finest exhibits in the area. The museum also is a remarkable all-round facility ideally suited to the Woodstock area. Curator Billings has donated some wall sconces to the museum. The October meeting will feature a video of Maine. The society wishes you a good fall and winter.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers. The 51st Signal Battalion held their second reunion Sept. 15, 16 and 17 at Wapa Kona, Ohio. Any veterans who served in this battalion may write: Glen Carpenter, 810 Glyncrest Drive, Wapa Kona, Ohio 45895. There will be quarterly newsletters sent to any veterans who are interested for $10 a year. The time and place of the next reunion are to be announced.
On Aug. 28 and 29, the family of the late Elford McAllister of Stoneham held a family reunion at Johnson's Camp on Five Kezar Lakes. This was a two-day celebration with 27 each day, with breakfast Sunday morning for complete families. Families came from Massachusetts, North Carolina, Temple, Maine Village, North Conway and Intervale, N.H., and Glenburn and Conway. Their uncle, Carroll Fogg, was there also. There were eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. This was their first reunion and everyone had a good time getting together.
Marilyn and Dick Jones spent the weekend with Jim and Cathy Farley on Mount Desert Island. While there, they viewed the sunset from the summit of Cadillac Mountain.
Graveside services were held on Sunday, Sept. 19, at the Hillside Cemetery in Stoneham for Del Merrill who passed away recently. Our sympathy and prayers are with his family and friends.
Norman Farrington from Texas has been here visiting Ed and Lois Nemi and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Farrington of Oxford and other relatives and friends.
Shirley Grant from Mechanic Falls spent a weekend recently with Frances Grant.
Congratulations go out to Kevin Barker and Valerie Littlefield on their wedding, which took place at Pleasant Point Inn in Center Lovell on Sept. 11. It was a beautiful day and a beautiful wedding.

Congratulations also go out to Floyd Pike and Amy Barker on their recent wedding. A reception was held at the Stoneham Fire Station Community Room on Saturday, Sept. 18, with many relatives and friends there to help them celebrate the occasion.
Maggie McAllister has employment at Evergreen Valley Resort. Martha Littlefield has been on vacation from her work at Evergreen Valley for several weeks.
Dean Saunders and Gregory Dunn have employment at the mill in Waterford.
Bob Millett and Eddie Millett have been doing work for Laurence Daddum, topping out a new chimney, etc.
Albert Nelson Jr. and Jamie Contello and several from this area went to the car races in Loudon, N.H., on Sunday.
Also on Sunday, the Knight Riders Snowmobile Club hosted a cookout for landowners and members at the Club House with chicken and steak cooked on the grill, salads, hot dishes, desserts, etc. It was a real good day and I think there were 35 people there. Of course Kelly, the Grovers' dog, was there. He was popular and getting all kinds of handouts from everyone. He is a pretty good dog and loves all people, and he's been coming to the cookouts since he was a little puppy.
At the last Stoneham Knight Riders Snowmobile Club meeting held at the Stoneham Fire Station, 15 members were present. Eben Harmon opened the meeting at 7 p.m. A donation was received through the mail from a member. A report was made by Jean Littlefield on the fundraiser chicken barbecue that was held at Evergreen Valley for the Maine State Trail Riders Association. Becky Glicker filled in as treasurer in the absence of Valerie. Several members paid their club dues at this time.
The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met Wednesday night at the home of Tent president, Eleanor Nelson, with 10 members present and one came in later.

The treasurer and secretary's reports were read and accepted.
Bonnie Wentworth served as chaplain. Marilyn Jones served as patriotic instructor and Gail Butterfield filled in as guard.
It was voted to send flowers to Frank Vail Jr. who is in the CMMC in Lewiston. He is in room 490, if anyone would like to send him cards or to visit him.
Inspection will be Oct. 27 hopefully at the K of P Hall here. Right now the steps are torn out and a ramp will be installed. I believe new sills are needed, too. One thing leads to another, doesn't it?
Refreshments were served after this meeting by members present, with coffee, tea and punch served by Eleanor Nelson. The mystery prize was won by Eleanor Nelson.
At the October meeting members are asked to come one-half hour earlier, at 6:30 p.m. and bring something for dessert for before the meeting.
Remember, people, if you'd like to join this group check to see if someone of your family served during the Civil War from 1861 to 1865.
According to licensed hunting guide, Bob Nunes, several bears have been taken during the bear hunting season. Maybe now we won't be so concerned, as they were around the area more than usual.

The last summer of the century has come and gone.
The geese are flying south and flocks fly over the area daily. Their destination is probably a golf course in Massachusetts. It was a good summer with favorable weather, good gardens, but not too much rain. We did get a good "wetting down" before it was over. Although the color is not as vivid as in other years, there are some beautiful yellows and reds on Route 26.
Visiting from Elizabethtown, N.Y., are Aileen and Gerry Geiling. Sr. Gerry is an avid fisherman. Walt Stanczyk and Gerry fished the lake on Saturday. They've been lying about the size of the fish ever since.
The Nelson family attended a family reunion in Connecticut last weekend. Their dog, Molly, stayed with us, and we did our best to instill "bad habits" in her while she took over our household.
Pat Kenyon and Terry Beauchene have been scouring the woods for mushrooms, which are plentiful this time of year. They found chanterelles, puffballs and others. They know what to pick, which is very important. It's not for amateurs to decide which are poisonous or edible.
Jennifer and Paul Casey have been working hard to complete the renovation of the "Winter House" in order to move in before the cold weather sets in. Other building projects on East B Hill and Route 26 are progressing well. The Bilodeaus on Route 26 at the "good view" are adding an additional building with lake views. They have a beautiful fall garden. Over the weekend, many cars stopped to admire and photograph the scene.
Merna Monroe is convalescing at home after surgery and was able to sit in the yard and enjoy the sunshine last week. Jim Yarnell was on the "less than I feel good list" last week but is progressing well. Margie and Steve Ruell have been helping Joy with garden chores and fall tasks. Even after fall cleaning and pruning, the garden looks beautiful.
It's "romance time" for the moose. The resident moose has deserted us in favor of searching out a lady friend. While Buster Williamson was pruning trees on his lot, he could hear two bulls bawling and lers in the distance. What a way to get your girlfriend's attention.

There were quite a few fishermen on the lake last weekend taking advantage of the waning days of fishing season for this century.
The neighbors have had many sightings of the bald eagle this week. He perches in a tall pine on Birch Point, then swoops over the water grabbing a fish in his talons and then flying away. The road sides have many flickers, and a flock of robins spent time in the yard on Sunday. The red-breasted nuthatches and chickadees have taken over the thistle feeder, making it difficult for the goldfinches who think they own it. Our little hummingbird left on Sept. 24. He overstayed his summer sojourn in Upton this year.
The Bird of the Week is the Lowland Leaf Peeper. They migrate north as the geese go south. They are known by their fine feathers from L.L. Bean and Lands End with an identifying camera around the neck. They are friendly and a boon to the economy, and they leave as the leaves fall from the trees. They are known to return in the winter to ski or snowmobile.

Herb and Rowena Dunham just got back from an enjoyable trip to Lincoln, Neb., where they visited Herb's son, Gary, and wife Beverly, who both work for the university there. Gary is a senior editor of Native Studies and Beverly is a curriculum specialist. Rowena took a trip to Las Vegas back in May to her grandson Scott Howe's wedding. She's getting to be quite the traveler.
Andy Larson was in Norway last week and had another biopsy which, thankfully, showed no cancer cells. Dr. Story said he wouldn't have to have another for six months. His oncologist, Dr. Thompson, said "every three months." He plans to let them figure it out between themselves. "Just tell me when to be there," is his only offering to the discussion.
I was just watching a cat walk across the room into the sunlight. She stopped to scratch and I watched the loose fur scatter in all directions, which explains how so much hair gets all over the rug and the furniture. I'm sure glad vacuum cleaners were invented.

I was in Rumford on Monday to get a new pair of frames for my glasses. I'm sorry the other one broke. I liked it much better than this pair. One finds what one likes and, of course, it is obsolete when another one is needed.

Monday afternoon after the trip to Rumford I took Ann Fitzmorris to Norway to do some shopping. It was a busy day.

The swamp maples have turned a fiery red and the leaves are turning on other trees trying to keep pace. It seemed to happen overnight after our rainstorm. I like the fall colors and crisp air, but beauty is marred somewhat by the realization that winter is just around the corner. I miss the ducks and other wildlife during the winter to say nothing of the traveling being more difficult. Andy feels the cold, too, having spent so many years in Washington state, where the climate is milder. However, the change in seasons is what makes us appreciate the good parts and I'm sure the skiers are happy to have winter. There's something for everybody here in Maine.

Correction: Pete Peterson comes from Maryland, not Massachusetts. I knew it was an "M" word, just got the wrong one.

Ralph tells me they had wild winds during the storm there in Vermont, but not so much rain. He said he'd have preferred the rain in some ways, as a lot of damage was done by the wind.

After so many years of having animals, I still don't know what makes most animals do the things they do. The other night Poochie decided it was more fun to bark than to sleep. Andy finally got up and shut him in, but it didn't stop him much. So I got up and talked to him and fed him and Lucy a biscuit apiece. Then he quieted down for about a half-hour and was at it again. So Andy got up and walked around the house, but he couldn't see any reason for the barking. The only thing we could see that might have bothered him was the wind that had started during the night. Maybe he could hear something we couldn't. Luckily, Lucy is usually pretty quiet or it would have been a lot worse.

And -- our 20-plus year old cat, after being here for three years, has decided that it is safe to go into the living room. Most of those three years she has spent in the kitchen for reasons only her mind can fathom. Do cats have depression? Whatever the reason, it is nice to see her acting like all the rest of the cats.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover

Last week was my last week at the old gundrill shop; I've decided to make a career change -- to logging my woodlot and maybe having time to visit grandkids in the Midwest. Although I've had several people ask me to keep writing after I leave the shop, I'm losing one of my best sources. I'll try to keep on as long as my audience is interested and I don't run out of material.

A few weeks ago, I related how our gundrill machines tend to spray oil under any number of situations. Well, on several occasions, I've "oiled" my coffee cup and have commented about how I hate it when that happens. It tastes awful. Eeyore called me into the office one morning last week and had the solution to my oily coffee: a "loon" cup complete with a swing-away umbrella. I liked it so much I didn't dare take it into the shop for fear it would get knocked onto the floor and broken.

I also learned a new term last week: "crotchrocket." Beanie was telling me about how a couple of young fellows have been racing up and down the Greenwood Road near Norway Lake in a Camaro and a Mustang. Then he thought one of them had failed to negotiate a corner there, run through a stone wall and partway up a tree the night before. (Turns out it was someone else.) Anyway, I mentioned that I thought there had been several motorcycle riders kill themselves in Maine recently by failing to negotiate curves and wrapping themselves around trees. Then Beanie said,

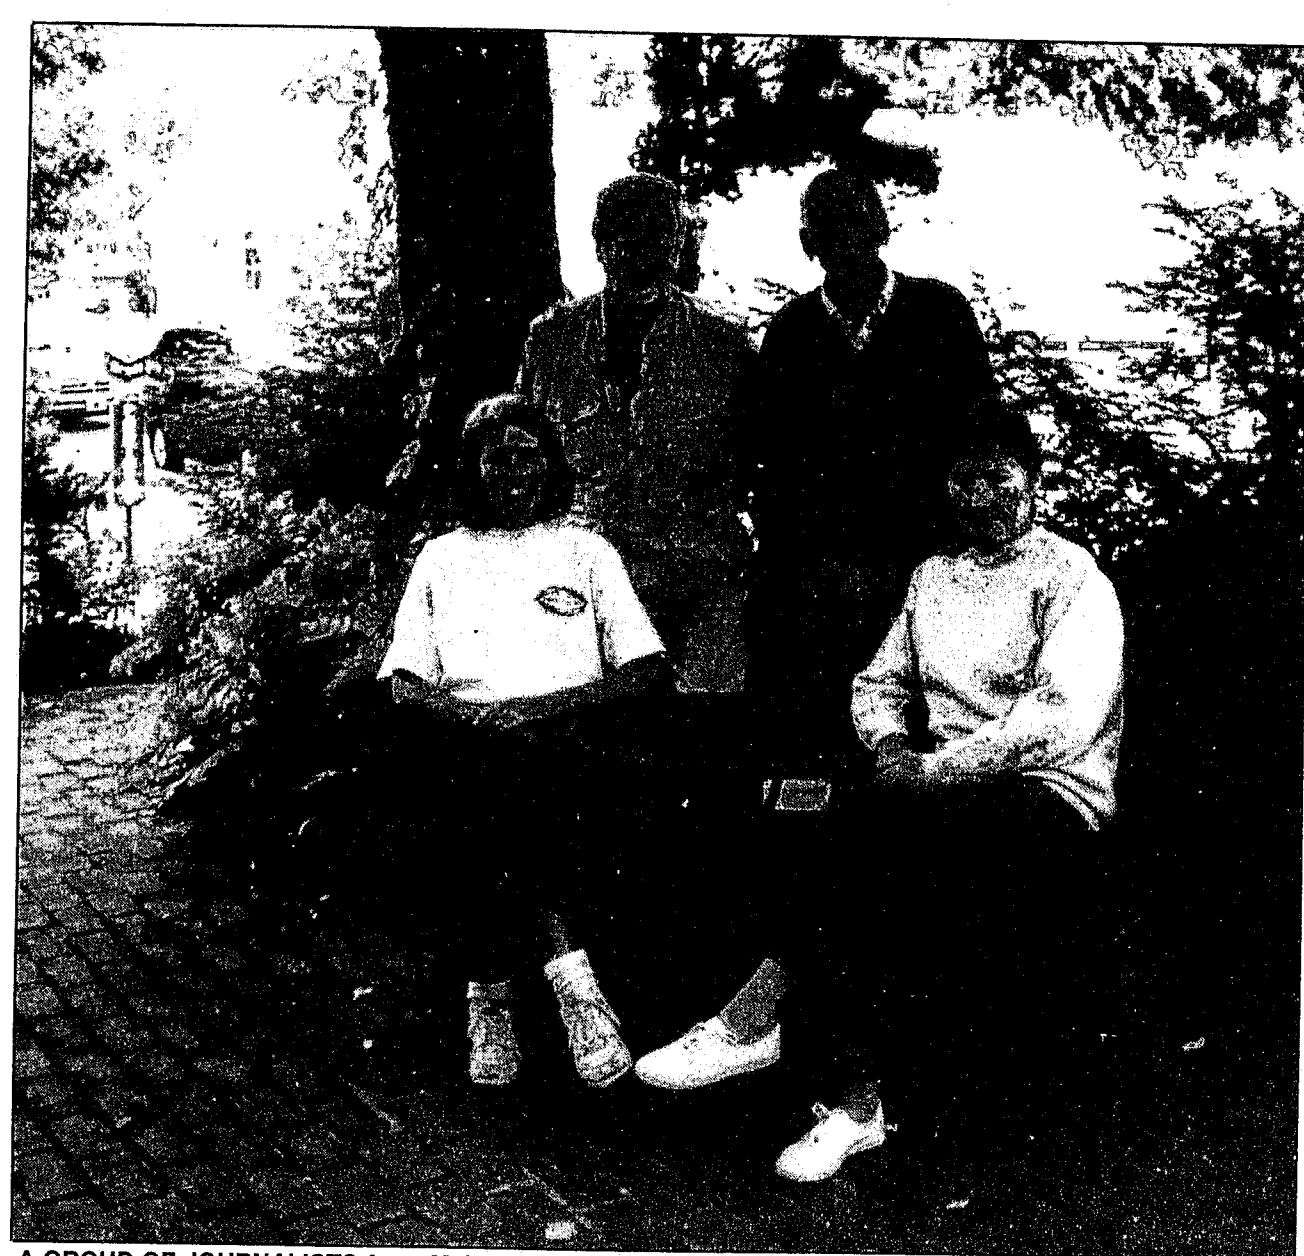

"Just because some motorcycle companies build crotchrockets that go 180 miles per hour, some guys think they have to ride them that fast." So, I guess "crotchrocket" is a descriptive term for a fast motorcycle, one of those sleek jobs where the rider leans forward and has his feet out behind him.

My last workweek came to a close with a fun surprise. My wife, Mona, and Suzanne Grover arranged a surprise retirement pizza party at "The Suds Pub" on Friday. I was taken by surprise, because I had been told we were going to have a reunion of Jane and Craig Ryerson's wedding party that night. Turns out most of my Mason relatives and guys I've been working with were there with their wives. And I had concluded that my last workday there was as unrewarding as my return from Vietnam, alone in the middle of the night. It meant a lot to me for so many nice folks to join us, wishing me well.

A GROUP OF JOURNALISTS from Maine and Massachusetts was in town over the weekend on a familiarization tour of Bethel. They visited Main Street shops, toured the Moses Mason House and the Broad Street Historic District and canoed and kayaked the Androscoggin. Dining and lodging for the visit were donated by local businesses. Shown here taking a break in front of the Holidae House are (from left): Chris Ridout, Budd Titlow, Bill Hoffman, Beth Monroe.

About the Business Person who Doesn't Advertise...

This person wakes up in the morning to the sound of an advertised alarm clock, climbs out of his advertised bed, and takes off his advertised pajamas. Then he takes a bath in an advertised tub, with advertised soap, shaves with an advertised razor, eats an advertised breakfast food, puts on his advertised clothes and drives to work in his advertised car. He then sits at an advertised desk and writes with an advertised pen. Yet this man doesn't advertise - saying that advertising does not pay.

Eventually, when his unadvertised business goes under, he will advertise it for sale!

Risiko; solo, "In the Garden" by Bertha Benoit; mystery march; Dot Canwell whistled a couple tunes; poem, "Memories Garden" by Alice Hoyt; closing song, "Sing Your Way Home" and closing thought, "God is there for us all." The next meeting is Oct. 4 and is Agriculture Night.

Each Thursday at the Baptist Church is Ladies' Bible Study at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m., and at 7 p.m. is Men's Discipleship Class. On Oct. 10 missionaries to Russia, Paul and Shirley Smith, will be speaking at both services.

Bryant Pond Hour on Channel IV 1V is Thursdays at 4 and 7 p.m. and Saturdays at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will travel to Teena's for the fall lunch out. This will be Thursday, Oct. 7.

The Historical Society has a fine collection of art and antiques. It is perfectly balanced; everything fits together exceptionally well. This is sometimes more important than the value of the individual items themselves. Paul Billings gave a chart on the American Presidents to the historical society. Curator Larry Billings will do publicity for the society again this year. Thanks to the columnists in the newspapers for including the society's news. Also the Lewiston Sun has been good to print accounts of meetings as well as the articles Kathleen Bean and Mary Billings have obtained for the back page some Saturdays. Much thanks. All of this makes people aware of what the society is doing and informs them about Woodstock history.

NEW P.A.—Physician's assistant Tony Simpson recently joined the staff at the Bethel Family Health Center. Simpson, who has lived in the area for 10 years, graduated from the University of New England in May. He also teaches courses at Wilderness Medical Associates in Bryant Pond.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham

Fog turned the sun into a pale lunar-like disc as we intrepid travelers blazed our way toward the new owner-operated Common Ground Fair. Cars cruised by, seemingly out of nowhere, their shapes obscured by the thick morning fog. Dog-eared atlas and minimal directions on hand, we braved that early morning fog hoping to avoid hordes of other faithful fairgoers. The Common Ground Fair is an institution, a yearly reunion in some of our lives. My fellow traveler had not been to the fair since childhood and was excited to see it through newly formed adult eyes. Arriving with no mishaps and very little traffic, we parked our car and headed up a newly created woods path to the fairgrounds. Although there are many improvements to keep MOFGA going for the next ten years or so, the grounds are beautiful, roomy, well laid out, with plans already begun to create a rural living-teaching space that is like no other.

Although I saw few local people — just Nancy Hansen selling her trinkets outside the fairground and Dan Kenny, Carol Post and young 'uns — I did manage to meet up with my fair friends, as planned. I also attended an herb talk on menopause, ate the great fair food, and listened to music. Our own Bill Shimamura played in one area and Joc Clark played and managed the stage in a natural amphitheater. The weather, cool and overcast in the a.m., turned warm and sunny at noon. By about 5 p.m., we had visited all the booths and eaten all the food we could in one day and headed home. There was traffic leaving, but again, it was not bad. I have heard complaints, but we timed it well. Then again, I have waited hours to get in or out of the Windsor Fairgrounds, so I was expecting the worst.

We have been having delightful fall weather with fantastic frolicking winds. We even managed to fit in a few thunderstorms. Each time it rains, I wait for rivulets of purple to pour off my newly painted mailbox. I only hope that Jerry doesn't get purple fingers when he delivers the mail on a rainy day.

The first frost swept swiftly through the Valley even before the official arrival of autumn. It was not unexpected, being the latter part of September, and time to be moving into foliage season. I've seen some beautiful blazing oranges, already, but many trees, here, retain their green gowns and seem to be in no hurry to shed their tresses.

Friends from Vermont visited this weekend, hoping to see a moose. They should have been around earlier in the week when a rutting bull jumped the fence into the field where Linda Harrington's horses were grazing. Must have thought the horses looked close enough to moose to investigate. Eventually he left, but not before destroying a bit of fence.

That's all the news this week. Have a good first week of October and beware the full moon on October 5.

Andover

by Joan Stinson Carney

The Andover Fire Department participated in the Maine State Firefighters Convention held in Bangor on Sept. 17-19. Andover Engine One, a 1963 C95 Mac pumper, was judged in the class of 1951-1971 original apparatus and was awarded a first-place trophy in its class. Way to go Andover.

The Andover PTA of Andover Grammar School will be holding a continuing bottle drive throughout the year. There will be receptacles posted all over town for returnable bottles — no glass ones please. The money that is collected will be used for various items that the children need, including uniforms for sports, field trips, and other stuff. On Old Home Days, places will be designated for your empties. Sounds like a good idea to me. Let's keep the bottles off the streets and let the kids find how hard it is to earn an honest nickel.

There will be an Open House on Sunday, Oct. 3, downstairs at the Town Hall from 1 to 4 p.m. to welcome Larry Stinson and his new wife, Gwen. They will be visiting from Seattle, Wash., for a few days and would like to see family and friends. There will be a lot of good food, and we hope good music, so please come.

Sadie Gallant Sirois was surprised with a baby shower on Saturday, Sept. 25. She got so much stuff for the new baby that two moving vans had to be hired to cart all the goodies home. Only a few more weeks, Sadie.

Speaking of babies, if someone held an ugliest baby contest, I'd win hands down. My niece, Miranda Stinson, is writing about her family's history for a school project, and as a result my mother and I were looking through about 50,000 pictures to find a few decent ones to send her. I found one of myself that should have and will be burned. I had not one hair on my head, and as a matter of fact, when my father first saw me in the hospital, he couldn't believe I was his baby -- I was so ugly. Pretty good, huh, to be rejected by my own father at birth. He even made my mother change my name, because he didn't like the one she had picked out. My grandmother kept asking the doctor what was really wrong with me, and was he sure that I would live. I guess, according to my mother, I was a dark purple, had a club foot, and cried without pause for the first two months, but she thought I was beautiful -- she wears pretty thick glasses. My father was pretty happy to go back to what he was doing before I was born -- laying mines in Portland Harbor to scare off the Germans. Seriously, though, it really was fun to look at those pictures. It brought back a lot of good memories; you forget so much over the years about how people and places looked and just how much they change. If I wanted to I could make my fortune in blackmail by threatening to publish some of the real "lulus" we found, but I won't, I'll be a good person and burn them all, I promise. So, if you want some fun, dig out all those albums you have stored away and have a ball. Maybe we really could have an ugly baby contest some day. I'll show you mine, if you show me yours.

What is black and white and red all over? An embarrassed zebra of course.

Here is another one that will keep you awake at night -- How far can a bear run in the woods? Answer next week.

Many thanks to volunteers Ruth Silver and Joann Best who have been such great helpers in the office this summer. Their efforts are greatly appreciated. Also, a huge thanks to Perham's of West Paris, Mollycoddett Marketplace Antique Center and The River Restaurant for hosting a Business After Hours last week. It was wonderful to see so many chamber members.

The chamber will be having an information and Angus souvenir table at the Blue Mountains Art and Crafts Festival at Sunday River on October 9 and 10. We are seeking volunteers to help us out for a couple hours either day. Please call the office if you can help.

All members and friends are encouraged to put Thursday, Oct. 28 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on your calendars for the chamber's annual meeting and social. Many thanks to the Bethel Inn for hosting this important get-together once again. Refreshments will be available. Please plan on attending.

Other important October meetings for your calendar: Community Networking Breakfast, Wednesday, Oct. 13, 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the Moses Mason House Meeting Room, and the monthly Brown-Bag luncheon on Friday, Oct. 15, from noon to 1 p.m. at the Bethel Alliance Church. From the

Mahosuc Arts Council

As the Mahosuc Arts Council expands its efforts to bring programs in the arts and humanities to the communities and schools of SAD44, the Board of Directors is pleased to announce the appointment of Ginger Kelly as director of development. Mrs. Kelly's primary responsibilities will be to chair the council's fundraising committees, coordinate advertisement sales in the Mountain Arts Program Book, lead volunteers in planning and directing special events such as the annual Mud Ball, and to oversee the council's annual phonathon. The 1999 Phonathon calling, on evenings, will take place on Oct. 19, 20, 26 and 27, and Ginger welcomes volunteers to this effort.

Kelly will work closely with the Mahosuc Arts executive director, Vicki Rackliffe, as she designs programming and performance schedules. Through block-booking opportunities with Gould Academy, SAD44, Sunday River Ski Resort, the council's collaborative efforts have enabled all organizations to provide quality programming at a substantial savings in artists' fees. During the 1998-1999 season, the council sponsored eight community performances, 16 school programs, as well as the Libbie Goodridge Kneeland Memorial Summer Series at the Gazebo.

With her leadership, the council hopes to increase programming by expanding membership, creating partnerships with local businesses, and attracting new sponsors.

Upcoming programs to close the millennium include: New Black Eagle Jazz Band, Nutcracker Ballet, Cindy Bullens in concert, and The Messiah Sing. Watch the Citizen for more information, and please call the Mahosuc Arts Council for tickets at 824-3575.

From the

Oxford Pomona Grange 2

Mt. Sugarloaf Grange in Dixfield was the place of the latest meeting of Oxford Pomona on Sept. 7. They served a delicious supper before the meeting. Forty-six members were present, including eight visitors from Androscoggin Pomona and two from Kennebec Pomona.

State Grange officers recognized were Steve and Susan Verrill, overseer and Pomona, respectively, Robert Meserve of the CWA committee and Connie Tuttle, deputy.

This was the time for installing a new slate of officers, which was done very impressively by Steve Verrill and his team. The new officers are: master, Connie Tuttle; overseer, Marion Bennett; lecturer, Stanley Howe; steward, Wendell Easter; assistant steward, Gordon Abbott; lady assistant steward, Rose Dyke; chaplain, Laura Hutchins; treasurer, Anna Woods-worth; secretary, Gail Butterfield; gate keeper, Gerald Easter; Pomona, Peggy Blake; Flora, Olive Risko; executive committee, Russell Yates; and pianist, Dot Canwell.

In other business a donation was voted for the Alzheimer Disease Memory Walk, to be held soon, and it was decided to eliminate the February meeting next year and have one in July instead. Connie Tuttle and Marion Bennett were chosen to represent us at the State Grange session next month, with Russell Yates and Peggy Blake as alternates.

As some Granges had one or more candidates waiting to take their degrees, it was agreed to try to have a Degree Day on Sept. 26 at Bryant Pond. It would start at 3 p.m., break for lunch at 5 or 6 p.m. and complete degrees afterward. This would give the candidates all four degrees and enable any of them who wished to take the

Due to the heavy rain and possible approach of the hurricane, the usual meeting of the Unit was postponed from Sept. 16 to 21.

Members reported on the County Council meeting of Sept. 15, on the workshop held at Norway Post on Sept. 19, and material received from the district president. Sheets were given out for members to keep track of their volunteer hours in Home Service, Field Service, Community Service, etc., also of miles traveled and money spent in these activities.

The Unit is looking for a member to help in leading the junior group. These are the members up to age 18 and they have been very active in the last few years, doing volunteer work at the Western Maine Veterans Home, participating in educational activities and attending conferences of the American Legion Auxiliary, even the National Convention. Any senior member who is willing to become involved in this way is asked to so inform the Unit president, Leah Deegan.

For a number of years until the last one, members had held a card party in October to benefit Special Olympics. It was decided to try this again, as it had been quite successful in the past. The public is invited to come to the Legion Hall on Gore Road in Locke Mills on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 17 at 1 p.m., having pie and coffee, then spend the rest of the time until 4 p.m. playing cards or other table games. Door prizes will be drawn from time to time during the afternoon.

On Oct. 14, the unit will hold another supper and dance. Note that this is a Thursday instead of the usual Tuesday evening. A harvest supper with corned beef will be served starting at 5:30 p.m. Dancing to the music of the Richard Felt Band will follow until 9:30 p.m. Cost is the usual $6 for ages 12 and up; $3 under age 12.

The next meeting of Post and Unit is scheduled for Oct. 7 at 7 p.m.

Coach Brett Shiffrin commended his team's defense: "Eric Hanian played extremely well in goal to preserve the shut-out. Patrick Donovan, Jon Gould, Eric Cheney, and Kevin Hanian continued to stop the Hyde attack in an inspired effort."

High School Boys' J.V. Soccer

Telstar 1, Dirigo 1; Sept. 27—Telstar's Ben Sabin scored the Rebels' only goal on an assist by Kinsey Durgin. Goalie Jeremy Benson made several outstanding saves, according to coach Charlie Newell. "There was excellent hustle at both ends of the field," said Newell.

Gould 2, Hyde 1; Sept. 25—Gould's J.V. team eked out an exciting win in their season opener on Saturday. Freshman Dan Tutor scored Gould's first goal off an assist from Bora Yetis well into the second half. Hyde tied the game with a goal of their own 10 minutes later, but Yetis scored the winning goal, unassisted, with five minutes left in the game. Goalkeeper Carter Fort had eight saves. Coach Tom Whittington gave the team credit for "good team effort, with everyone contributing to the victory. The team showed marked improvement throughout the game."

Telstar 0, Mt. Abram 0; Sept. 22—Telstar played to a scoreless tie with Mt. Abram. "It was a good way to end the game. They played with hustle in a steady rain," said coach Charlie Newell.

team moved the ball around very well, which allowed for the many scoring opportunities."

Gould 8, Pine Tree 0; Sept. 20—A strong Gould team allowed Pine Tree Academy only one shot on goal in the season opener last Monday. Kate Warner, Kyle Pribish, and Adora Burke scored two goals apiece for Gould, with Ellie Scribner and Betsy Capone contributing one each.

Gould 1, Brewster 1; Sept. 22—Gould battled to a tie on a wet home field in last Wednesday's game. Despite a slow start, the Gould defense came back strong and did not allow Brewster a shot on goal in the second half of the game. Megan Paquette scored Gould's goal off an assist from Liz Beebe.

Jay 2, Telstar 1; Sept. 22—Marianne Nadeau scored Telstar's only goal on a penalty stroke in a loss to Jay. Goalie Maegan Gaudreau had nine saves. "Marianne took a perfect penalty stroke, which gave us a 1-0 lead at halftime," said coach Gail Wight. "Our fouls were our downfall in this game."

MEMBERS OF THE 1899 GOULD ACADEMY FOOTBALL TEAM pose with their coach and mascot. This photograph is one of thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds for its Regional History Center on Broad Street in the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House, which now houses the museum shop, exhibit galleries, and offices, but when completed will also provide improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. To learn more about this project, call the society at (207) 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or use the e-mail address history@bdc.bethel.me.us or visit the Web site <http://orion.bdc.bethel.me.us/~history>.
